Planning for California's Water Future

May 17, 2018• 12:00-1:00 pm

Mayahuel, 1200 K St, Sacramento, CA 95814

PolicyLink, in partnership with the Latino, Asian Pacific Islander, Black, Jewish, and Women's Legislative Caucuses, is pleased to present our fifth annual speaker series for legislative staff.

Water has always played a defining role in California. Today, over one million Californians do not have reliable access to safe drinking water. This session will explore some of the water challenges communities are facing and will present solutions California should be adopting to ensure that all residents have access to safe and affordable drinking water. Speakers will discuss representation of low income communities of color on water governing bodies, safe drinking water access in schools, and planning for our water future.

LUNCH WILL BE PROVIDED. Please RSVP to Lizette@ideatecal.com (space is limited).

Speakers:

- Crystal Williams, The Whole Child Collaborative
- Adriana Renteria, Community Water Center
- Veronica Garibay, Leadership Counsel for Justice & Accountability

About the California Equity Leaders Network

The California Equity Leaders Network is a statewide collaborative effort of over 60 local, regional, state, and national groups dedicated to improving the lives of all Californians and promoting a future of shared prosperity. To this end we are committed to sharing knowledge, supporting one another, and collaborating on policies that advance equity in California. Network members have a shared interest in building a healthy and prosperous California by improving social, economic, public health and environmental outcomes for low-income people and communities of color across the State. We view policy change as one of several core strategies for accomplishing this and believe that collaboration is crucial to our success.
